Who survived the deceased?

If you die without making a Will, you are said to die 'Intestate' which means that there are set laws that will decide how the money, property and possessions that make up your Estate will be dealt with.

The process used to distribute your Estate is outlined below. This is unlikely to be what you want to happen.

*The Increased Statutory legacy will only apply to deaths occurring from 6th February 2020. Up to that date the lower amount of £250,000 will apply.
